AURORA THEATRE COMPANY PRESENTS
TONI MORRISON'S THE BLUEST EYE
ADAPTED BY LYDIA R. DIAMOND

BERKELEY, CA (January 7, 2021) Aurora Theatre Company continues its 29th season with Toni Morrison's THE BLUEST EYE, adapted by Lydia R. Diamond. Associate Artistic Director Dawn Monique Williams (Bull In A China Shop) directs this poignant drama about Black girlhood, the poisonous effects of racism, and the heartbreak of shame.

THE BLUEST EYE will be presented as an audio drama, consistent with Aurora's reimagined digital 2020/2021 season due to the COVID-19 health crisis. The audio drama opens April 9th, and will be available through Aurora's new membership program, and also for individual release.

“When Dawn introduced me to Lydia Diamond's adaptation of THE BLUEST EYE, I was blown away,” said Artistic Director Josh Costello. “Diamond has translated Toni Morrison's story with such a sharp ear for making a scene spring off the page. And Morrison's story, exposing the ways racism can be internalized, feels as important now as when the novel was first published. We can't present THE BLUEST EYE on our stage during the pandemic, but I am so pleased that Aurora has received special permission to present Lydia Diamond's adaptation as an audio drama. Dawn is assembling a remarkable cast of local actors—it's going to be a captivating production.”

THE BLUEST EYE runs April 9 - May 21 (Opens: April 9).

Pulitzer Prize Winner Toni Morrison's debut novel, The Bluest Eye (which turned fifty in 2020), comes to Aurora in a stunning adaptation by playwright Lydia R. Diamond (Stick Fly, Smart People). Pecola Breedlove is obsessed with Shirley Temple and a desire to have blue eyes. Claudia, another young girl and one of Pecola's only friends, guides us through this hauntingly lyrical memory play. Diamond expertly translates to the stage the emotional depths of Black girlhood, the poisonous effects of racism, and the heartbreak of shame in Morrison's work. Celebrated for a "profound and unrelenting vision," (The New Yorker) Morrison sets THE BLUEST EYE in her hometown of Lorain, Ohio, and places three young Black girls—Claudia, Pecola, and Frieda—center stage as they strive to make sense of love, sisterhood, abuse, and hate.

The Minneapolis Star-Tribune called THE BLUEST EYE a "poignant and poetic drama."

The cast features Michael J. Asberry (Exit Strategy, Satellites), Sam Jackson (Exit Strategy, Splendour), Cathleen Riddley, Jeunee Simon, and Jasmine Milan Williams (Bull In A China Shop).

Toni Morrison was a Nobel and Pulitzer Prize-winning American novelist, essayist, book editor, and college professor. Morrison's writing focuses on the lives of African Americans, and are often set in what was once the racially segregated South. Among her best-known novels are The Bluest Eye, Sula, Song of Solomon, Beloved, and A Mercy. She is the recipient of numerous awards and honorary degrees, and was also awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom in 2012 by President Barack Obama.

Lydia R. Diamond is a nationally recognized award-winning playwright and assistant professor at Boston University. Her adaptation of Toni Morrison's THE BLUEST EYE won the Black Arts Alliance Image Award for Best New Play. Her other plays include The Gift Horse, Stick Fly, The Inside, and Voyeurs de Venus. Diamond holds a bachelor's degree in theater and performance studies from Northwestern University. She taught playwriting at Columbia College Chicago, DePaul University, Loyola University and currently at Boston University. Diamond is a board member of StageSource, Boston's resource for theatre artists.

Dawn Monique Williams joined the Aurora team as Associate Artistic Director in August 2019. A native of Oakland, California, Williams was previously the Artistic Associate at the Oregon Shakespeare Festival where she directed Merry Wives of Windsor in 2017. Her recent directing credits include Aurora's Bull in a China Shop, Lauren Gunderson's The Half-Life of Marie Curie (TheatreSquared), Letters to Kamala (American Stage Company), Earthrise (Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts), Moon Man Walk, Tijejan and His Brothers, A Midsummer Night's Dream (American Conservatory Theatre, MFA program), an audio version of Lynn Nottage's Las Meninas, The Secretaries (Profile Theatre; Willamette Week's Top 10 Portland Theatre Productions of 2018), Romeo and Juliet (Chautauqua Theatre), August Wilson's The Piano Lesson (Le Petit and UNCO), Lynn Nottage's By The Way, Meet Stark (Douglas Morrisson and UNCO), and Women on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown (Town Hall). She's directed a range of plays including the English language premiere of Gracia Morales' NN12, Othello, Twelfth Night, In the Blood, Steel Magnolias, Children of Eden, The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee, Little Shop of Horrors, Burial at Thebes, Medea, Antigone Project, and La Ronde; international directing credits include Edinburgh Festival Fringe productions of Scapin the Cheat, Anna Bella Eema, and The Tempest. Williams was a 2016 Princess Grace Theatre Fellowship recipient, was awarded a TCG Leadership U residency grant, funded by the Mellon Foundation, and was a former Killian Directing Fellow at the Oregon Shakespeare Festival. She is an alum of the Drama League Directors Project and holds an MA in Dramatic Literature and an MFA in Directing. Dawn is a proud member of the SDC, the theatrical union of professional directors and choreographers.

Said Williams: "I was so excited, when we announced our 2020/21 season, to direct Lydia Diamond's adaptation of Toni Morrison's THE BLUEST EYE. It is my favorite adaptation of a novel for stage, and while heartbreaking it is also triumphant. With the shutdown due to COVID-19 and as the world rapidly changed before our eyes, I was no longer sure if BLUEST was the story my heart wanted to tell. But as the summer months dragged on and the violence against Black femmes continued to climb I knew that the complex story of Black girlhood was vital.

"The stories of Black women and girls in this country are regrettably often those of violence, but we also have stories of love, sisterhood, integrity and grace. And as 2020 marked the 50th anniversary of Morrison's debut novel I am honored to be an ambassador for the continued life of this story. As it began its life as a novel, BLUEST lends itself to the audio play format. Diamond has remained remarkably faithful to the language of the novel and penned a version that is a gift to actors to breathe life into."

Williams has assembled a talented cast for THE BLUEST EYE.

Michael J. Asberry (Daddy/Soaphead/Cholly) returns to Aurora where he was last seen in 2019's Exit Strategy and 2008's Satellites. He most recently appeared in Las Meninas with Profile Theater.
